Sticky Knowledge

There are lots of forms of media that can be used to create a drawing including: pencils, rubbers, crayons, pens, paint, pastels, charcoal, ballpoints and chalk.

A viewfinder is a rectangular grid which can be used to zoom into and focus on a specific part of an artefact before drawing it.

There are pencils of different grades which are used to create lines of different thicknesses.

To create dark lines you must press hard with the media that you are using.

To create light lines you must press gently with the media that you are using.

Blending is a technique used to soften lines.
